imagine an organizational model for church leadership that enables the entire team to unleash their full potential the joy and vigor coming from a collective strength intelligence and skill in the community of leaders not only brings greater potency but better yields for your ministry what would it be like to see this kind of healthy leadership reproduced into the second third and fourth generation on multiple strands leveraging the metaphor of brafman popularized in his nyt best selling book the starfish and the spider rob wegner lance ford and alan hirsch show how to take a close look at your church's organizational structure and how to adapt instead of simply adopt a certain kind of structural approach how churches can function without a rigid central authority making them nimbler in reacting to external forces how seeding starfish networks inside today's churches will prepare the church of tomorrow to be agile while maintaining the accountability to be effective the starfish and the spirit is about creating a culture where church leaders view themselves as curators of a community on a mission not the source of certainty for every question and project it's about creating a team of humble leaders in the middle of the church not at the top leaders who naturally reproduce multiple generations of leaders from the middle out

this collection of essays draws together a diverse group of scholars and practitioners as they pay loving tribute to

Dr. Tetsunao Ted Yamamori, one of the great leaders of global mission and mentor to a generation from dean, professor, and author to CEO of Food for the Hungry and international director of the Lausanne Movement, Dr. Yamamori has contributed to world evangelization over a lifetime of faithful service. In this book, his students, friends, and colleagues explore the far-reaching impact of his engagement on questions relevant to a new generation of church mobilizers touching on topics of hospitality, diaspora, entrepreneurship, poverty, theological education, Bible translation, collaboration, leadership, student ministry, the digital age, and church growth. This collection honors one of the great leaders of integral mission while exploring how the church must continue to grapple with the changing landscape of a changing world. Far from a reflection on the past, this is a book that looks to the future, drawing on the life and ministry of Dr. Yamamori to cast a vision for how we can meet the challenges and opportunities of global mission in the twenty-first century.

A call to follow Jesus when he challenges our traditions: there are many challenges to adequately representing Jesus to the majority world, and often Western Christian traditions create unnecessary hindrances to people accepting his truth. This book grew out of many interviews with Indian Jesus followers, both Christians and Yeshu Bhaktas, who identified painful stumbling blocks to receiving and sharing the gospel. While Hindus often have a high view of Jesus, they struggle with the conventions, practices, and labels around church, Christian barriers to Jesus. Uniquely, it challenges readers to examine nine barrier-producing Christian traditions, exploring the assumptions Christians may hold about the value, origin, or necessity of their customs. The concerns Hindus commonly raise about traditions that confuse, offend, or alienate them, teachings from Jesus in Scripture that often question the same ideas or practices, Pennington suggests that by not asking deep enough questions about what is essential for following Jesus and what is a non-essential human invention, the church is unnecessarily alienating millions of people from him. As a body, it is time to honestly address these concerns, developing new patterns of discipleship that reveal Jesus's heart for breaking down barriers instead of creating them. The analysis presented in this book will empower readers to critically examine their personally cherished traditions and the purity of the gospel they present with insights that are relevant in all contexts.

Drawing on insights from the training practices of the English medieval craft guilds, a global survey of 500 church planters, interviews with artists and church planting trainers, and the author's 30 years of ministry experience, The Craft of Church Planting offers a distinctive and imaginative perspective on the methods used to train future practitioners in the art of church planting, demonstrating how training for the next generation of church planting leaders might be informed by the historic master-apprentice model, guild learning, communities of creativity, and an artisan approach to ministry. This book is a vital resource to inform the methods of training for the next generation of church planters.
